

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

A MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MIX-UP HOLIDAY

Words have to behave, so well most of the time that once in awhile old Daddy Dictionary who keeps the words in shape all the time, lets them have a holiday.

They call it a Mix-Up holiday. As you know, all the words in the dictionary are arranged just so. They are looked after by Mother Alphabet who keeps them in the very best order you can imagine.

Mother Alphabet is a great one for order.

She has all the words in place so that everyone can tell just where to look for a word.

If it is a word beginning with A, they look in the A part of Daddy Dictionary's big house.

If it is a word beginning with B, they look in the B part of Daddy Dictionary's big house.

And so on, right down through the rest. C and D and E and F and G and H and I and J and K and L and M and N and O and P and Q and R and S and T and U and V and W and X and Y and Z.

Then if you want to look up the different words beginning with A, you look first through the words that are followed by B, and then by C, and so on. Words such as able are in the first part of the A section of Daddy Dictionary's house.

Words such as acorn are to be found next. Then words such as adorable and so on and so on.

Of course it is very important that the words should be arranged just so. People want to look up to see what words mean and just how they are spelled, and if Mother Alphabet didn't keep them in order in Daddy Dictionary's big house, there would be great confusion.

Just suppose you were looking up how to spell jolly and you found jolly had left that part of the dictionary and changed places with sorry, you would be very much confused.

But everyone and everything should have a holiday once in awhile.

Even Daddy Dictionary, for all that he is so strict and exact, and Mother Alphabet realizes this.

So there is a Mix-Up word holiday every so often.

It always takes place at night. It doesn't matter about the words being up at night, you see, because they get so much chance to sleep in the daytime.

You've no idea the number of little naps they take during the day when no one is bothering them. They get all the sleep they need, so when Daddy Dictionary tells them they can have a holiday at night they are all ready.

Even the word sleepy is wide-awake. You wouldn't think that could be possible, but if you ever saw the word sleepy playing hop-skip-and-jump with the word bedtime you'd be surprised.

The words come right forth from the Dictionary house and they put on dresses Mother Alphabet keeps in her secret cupboard which are made of shimmery silk, and they play in just as mixed up a way as you can imagine. They each pretend they are each other. The big words pretend they're little words and jump and bound about, and the little words pretend they are big words and put on spectacles and appear to be very wise.

Even Mother Alphabet joins in the fun and Daddy Dictionary stags the Dictionary Dirge which goes like this:

If you have good eyes,
You can see that I'm wise,
And that everything I know,
But it gets pretty slow
To be so wise.
Day after day, after day,
To once in a while
In a single file
We come from the book
And we take a great look
Then we play, and we play!

After there has been a splendid romp all the words go back into their places once more. So when you go to look for one you'll always find it just where it should be, but when you're not looking, once every so often the words have a gloriously mixed up time. You'd appreciate it yourself if you lived in a dictionary house!

GAS BUGGIES—Isn't That Just Like a Woman?

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

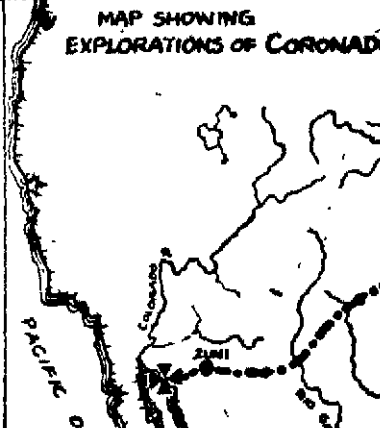

FROM TIME TO TIME THE INDIANS HAD BROUGHT REPORTS TO THE SPANISH COLONY IN MEXICO OF THE SEVEN CITIES OF CIBOLA, EACH AS GREAT AS THE CITY OF MEXICO.

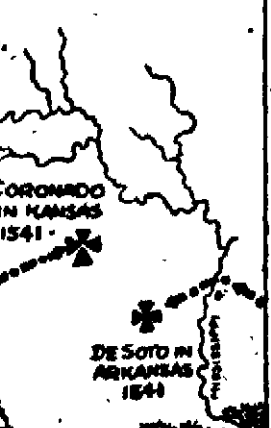

CORONADO SET OUT IN 1540 FROM THE NORTHERN SHORE OF THE GULF OF CALIFORNIA WITH A FORCE OF 1,000 SPANIARDS AND INDIANS. TAKING 50 PICKED HORSEMEN, HE LEFT THE MAIN BODY OF THE EXPEDITION AND STRUCK OUT BOLDLY ACROSS THE PLAINS OF NEW MEXICO.

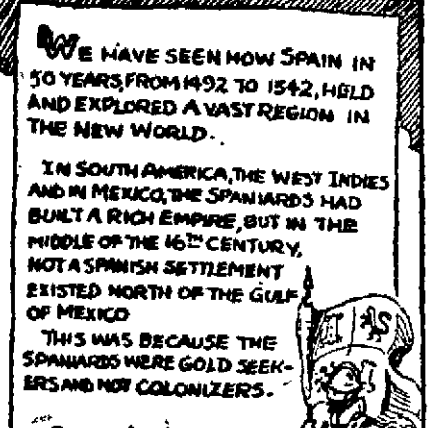

ON THE WAY HE FOUND MANY INDIAN PUEBLOS, BUT NO TREASURE. THESE PUEBLOS WERE LARGE, TERRACED BUILDINGS MADE OF ADOBE OR ROUGH STONE LAID IN CLAY MORTAR. THE SPANIARDS, SEEING THEM FROM A DISTANCE, IMAGINED THEM TO BE THE FAIRY CITIES THEY WERE SEEKING.

NOT DISCOURAGED BY HIS FAILURE TO FIND GOLD, CORONADO MARCHED ACROSS WHAT NOW OHLAWONA AND INTO THE CENTER OF KANSAS. AT THIS TIME, ALTHOUGH HE WAS AWARE OF THE FACT, CORONADO WAS ONLY NINE DAYS MARCH FROM THE POINT DE SOTO HAD REACHED IN ARKANSAS. THE FOLLOWING YEAR, CORONADO RETURNED TO MEXICO.

MAP SHOWING EXPLORATIONS OF CORONADO. CORONADO IN KANSAS 1541. DE SOTO IN ARKANSAS 1541. NEW SPAIN (MEXICO). GULF OF MEXICO.

WE HAVE SEEN HOW SPAIN IN 50 YEARS FROM 1492 TO 1542, HAD BUILT A RICH EMPIRE, BUT IN THE MIDDLE OF THE 16TH CENTURY, NOT A SPANISH SETTLEMENT EXISTED NORTH OF THE GULF OF MEXICO. THIS WAS BECAUSE THE SPANIARDS WERE GOLD SEEKERS AND NOT COLONIZERS.

Thicken the sauce with butter and flour cooked together, and serve with a teaspoonful of minced parsley.

The Chase Securities Corporation, Blair & Company and other New York bankers formed a syndicate and offered 101.9033 for all or none; and 101.953 for all or none of the $48,000,000 of the block maturing in forty installments from 1926 to 1936. The same syndicate bid 100.48 for all or any part of the same block; and 100.48 for all part of the remaining $12,000,000 maturing from 1926 to 1940.

Other banks and bond houses bid from par to 102 for smaller blocks of the bonds.

MOCK TRIAL ENJOYED BY LARGE CROWD

A legal battle of great length and intensity was carried on by Special City Judge Thomas F. Coughlin and Attorney J. Edwin Conway Monday in a mock trial, held at the Knights of Columbus building before Attorney Francis X. Murray. The case that attracted wide interest was for a breach of promise to marry.

The plaintiff being one, Glenn Daffydill, Miss Nickerson, the defendant, Oswald Jones, Bernard Feeney. Among the prominent witnesses who testified at the hearing were members from the roster of the local council of Knights, James Carey was the clerk of the court. Miss Helen Gallagher, the court stenographer and John McAndrew the court officer. The foreman of the jury was E. Frank Flanagan. William Leonard, Thomas Davitt, Joseph Murray and John C. Mahoney acted the parts of the star witnesses.

The jury returned at a late hour in the evening, returning a verdict that pleased all present.

SIX PLY BALLOONS JUMP PRODUCTION

The three new additions to the plant of The General Tire & Rubber Company, at Akron, are now in full production, increasing the plant capacity fifty per cent. "We are assured that all the production is on the basis of a real demand for General Cord Tires and is a response to actual orders," says Harris Brown, of the Brown Tire Company, distributors of General Tires in Kingston. Mr. Brown is closely in touch with affairs at the factory. General's production this year includes a much larger proportion of balloon tires than ever before. This is a large part due to the instant popularity and demand for the six-ply balloon, which General was the first to perfect and advertise. There is also a greatly increased production of the regular-size large tires for commercial work, the remainder of the activity being devoted to passenger car tires.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR WIFE WHO HURLED ACID

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Los Angeles, May 5.—Mrs. Bernice Day, the 20 year old bride of Darby Day, Jr., convicted of hurling a fiery acid into her young husband's face, will be sentenced to prison May 7.

Not a trace of emotion showed on the features of the beautiful Bernice when the jury brought in a verdict which may keep her behind prison bars from 1 to 14 years.

Carolyn Lundstrom, Mrs. Day's sister, a co-defendant in the case, was acquitted.

Darby Day, Jr., whose scarred face was exhibited before the jurors, when the attorney for the state made his final plea, was not in court when the verdict against his wife was returned.

ROBINSON ANSWERS DAWES ON SENATE RULES

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Memphis, Tenn., May 5.—Vice-President Dawes' campaign for a change of Senate rules to limit debate and expedite legislation was answered here today by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas. Democratic leader of the Senate, and he served notice that there will be no radical tinkering with the rules, captivity of the majority. The trouble with the Senate is not its rules, Robinson asserted, but its non-enforcement of the rules, and that is up to the vice-president himself.

Demand for Brick Has Diminished

Current report from 116 manufacturers of common brick indicate that the high pressure demand of 1922 has diminished. The volume of brick moved during the past thirty days is in excess of that moved during the preceding months, but there has been no gain in the orders placed for the future.

This general summary reflects the experience of individual brick producers in all sections; except in a few areas where construction has not fallen materially from the high volume of 1922. The most conspicuous example of the latter class is Chicago, where both the movement of brick and the orders on hand show an increase. New England also indicates a decided pick up since the report of thirty days ago. The gains in other sections appear to be merely seasonal.

Everything indicates that there is now a normal volume of construction activity. Those who were tuned up to the super-demand of the past year are inclined to feel that there is a slump; but if compared with any normal year in the past the present volume would show a thoroughly satisfactory condition.

The encouraging feature from the standpoint of the brick manufacturer is that brick apparently is more nearly getting its just share of the business. There is no price change of consequence recorded. The composite price, arrived at from the reports of 116 manufacturers representing every part of the country, is $14.37, this being price per thousand for hard burned common brick delivered on the job.

THE COUNTY FAIRS.

Reports of county fair associations indicate that the members intend to keep up the good work begun a few years since in reviving the exhibitions and restoring to them the prestige they enjoyed prior to the war. It will be remembered that even before then, for some reason not determinable or perhaps for many reasons that could be enumerated, the fairs slumped in popularity, and there must have been some cause for which the associations were somewhat, if not wholly, responsible.

During the past few weeks many meetings of the societies have been held, and according to the newspapers it would appear as if the exhibitions this summer and fall would excel any that have ever been held, even before the international conflict. It really would seem as if the cities and country were getting together to arrange exhibitions that will attract people from both the farming sections and thickly populated centers, thereby creating common interest between the two that is bound to determine successful enterprises.

While there always is more or less discussion relative to state appropriations, those for the county fairs are rarely, if ever, opposed except in instances of Tammany objection for purely political reasons. Fortunately there are not sufficient Democratic votes to block the appropriations or there might be no county fairs. On the other hand, Republican legislators have been anxious to do everything possible not only to aid the fair associations but to encourage them to greater undertakings.

There is reason to look for better county fairs this year than ever, the directors being active to get everything in readiness so that when the gates open there will be something to see and do within the enclosure. The old practice of taking a day to open and a day to close is being abandoned and plans made to make every day the "Big Day," from the first day to the last day. This idea is being adopted and it should prove beneficial as it should create a much bigger average attendance. At any rate, the associations are all energetic for the exhibitions of 1925, which spells success.

THE CHAIN PAPER.

The chain store has for some time been an American institution. We also have the chain paper, although we have hesitated so to characterize it. In a recent issue of a chain paper, a correspondent criticizes Vice President Dawes for presuming to attempt to reform Senate procedure. Just a few weeks before General Dawes started his campaign that same chain was inveighing against the United States Senate as an oligarchy, a "rich man's club" and all that sort of thing. It hadn't a good word to say for any member of that body, save Burton Wheeler, and the Lord knows he needed it. Now General Dawes is condemned as a marplot, and the Senate apotheosized as the stalwart of democratic government.

It is recalled also that another chain organization was strong for the protective tariff policy up to September 22, 1922, and a bitter enemy of that policy on September 23rd, 1922, and since. The same chain by turns condemns little business and arraigns big business. It advocated recognition of Mexico because of certain personal interests not far removed from the first link in the chain, and it has condemned our Mexican policy ever since Mexico was recognized.

If a President should attempt to follow the dictates of these chain newspapers, what a wretchedness he would be, and he might be as deeply in debt politically as one of these chains is said to be financially. Incidentally, the presentation of Mexico did not carry with it the exploitation of Mexico.

At a hearing before Governor Smith on a two years' salary bill it was held that it is better to have the children housed in cheap buildings and have competent teachers than that they should "be in palaces with the kind of teachers many of them have." It might also be observed that the bill of the governor is the most important than that of the church building, of the governor than that of the executive mansion, and of the President than that of his official dwelling.

A law under which a woman of Jersey City is to be tried as a "common scold" is said to have been invoked only twice before in half a century, but two other antique statutes, Rhode Island's imprisonment for debt law and Delaware's whipping post law, according to report have been in constant use.

THE VALUE OF HEAT.

It would appear that other countries seem to appreciate the value of heat in various ailments, more than we do in North America.

In Japan the hot bathing and application of heat to various disorders is routine procedure. The use of the huge hogsheads, filled with hot water, in which the Jap immerses himself after the toil of the day, was a part of the army life during the war with Russia.

The circulation is hurried along, and thus the fatigue wastes in the muscles are removed from the system.

Our athletes try to secure a hot bath after a strenuous contest, so that they will not go "stale."

For years it has been customary to treat all sprains with cold applications to prevent the swelling. Our latest books are telling us that heat, hot applications, are the first indication because as the damage is done, the next best thing to do is to get a good circulation there, to remove the debris of all the tearing, and start early repair of the tissues.

In Holland a surgeon had been treating a severe ulcer on a patient's leg for three years. The patient was bedridden and threatened with gangrene.

He applied a hot air box to the leg, beginning with three hours daily, and increasing it gradually to six hours, exposing the bare leg directly to the heat. Between the heat applications, the leg was simply covered with an ordinary bandage.

The first thing noticed was the prompt relief from pain. This is the great factor in the application of heat to sprains and other injuries. It is very soothing.

This ulcer was completely healed in twelve weeks, and in the majority of cases he states, that the cure was complete in three weeks.

When healing is slow in run down individuals, the stimulation of the part by heat is just what is needed to get some activity.

This is the reason that it is not unusual for an old sore or ulcer to be irritated by some preparation, in order to stimulate the circulation and get the blood bringing new material, and removing old material from the spot.

Heat is a great boon to us all.

Foreign Trade Record for Year

The Excess of Exports Over Imports Will Be More Than One Billion Dollars or Twice as Much as in Any Year Preceding the World War.

The fiscal year 1925, which ends sixty days hence, will show the foreign commerce of the United States over $ 1/2 billion dollars against 7 1/2 billions in 1924 and less than 6 1/2 billions in 1922, all of these figures relating to fiscal years. This increase of more than two billion dollars since 1922, says the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, is about equally divided between imports and exports. Imports of the fiscal year 1925 will exceed those of 1922 by about one billion dollars and the exports will exceed those of 1922 by about $1,200,000,000.

The excess of exports over imports, or "favorable trade balance" as it is sometimes called, is likely to be about 1 1/2 billion dollars against 1 billion in 1922 and a little more than half a billion in 1913, the year preceding the World War. Prior to the opening of the war the excess of exports over imports never reached the billion-dollar line, the largest pre-war "favorable balance" that of 1908, having been but $666,000,000, or about one-half as much as the prospective "favorable balance" of the fiscal year which is about to end.

During the war, adds the Trade Record, when Europe was buying largely from us and sending us little merchandise in exchange, the excess of exports over imports, or "favorable trade balance," ran into big figures, having been 3 1/2 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1917 and a little more than 4 billion in 1919 but made its highest pre-war record in the fiscal year 1908 $666,431,654 and $652,875,915 in 1913.

In fact it was only after the manufacturers of the country began their contributions to the export trade that the excess of exports began to make itself apparent in their foreign trade figures, and there have been only 3 cases in the past fifty years in which exports did not exceed imports. This big and growing contribution of the manufacturers to the export trade is evidenced by the fact that manufacturers exported (including the two groups "Finished Manufacturers" and "Manufactures for Further Use in Manufacturing") have grown from $103,000,000 in 1875, fifty years ago, to a total which seems likely to exceed $1,400,000 in the fiscal year ending with June, 1925. Meantime the value of manufacturing material which the manufacturers have imported has grown from $142,000,000 in 1875 to probably more than $1,300,000,000 in the fiscal year 1925. Manufactures, of the two groups above mentioned, now approximate 50 per cent of our total exports against 15 per cent in 1880.

ADRIANNE LE COUVREUR.

Was a French actress, born in Fismes, in Champagne, in 1690. She first appeared in 1717, in the character of Electra, and was received with universal applause.

Her best personation was Phaedra. She was for some time mistress to Marshal Saxe, whom when reduced to distress, she assisted with a large sum of money raised upon her jewels.

WHIPPING POSTS.

The first municipal whipping-post in England was ordered set up by the corporation at Doncaster, "for the purpose of punishing vagrants and sturdy beggars," 212 years ago today. Whipping as a punishment for the unemployed had long been in vogue in England and the American colonies, but under the statute of Henry VIII the victims were to be tied to the end of a cart naked and beaten with whips throughout the market town till the body should be bloody by reason of such whipping.

This mode of whipping enjoyed a long vogue in both Old and New England, but was gradually supplanted by the post, which, by the way, is still a legal form of punishment in Delaware. To show the amount of savagery among the people in early 18th century, the sight of the body of a naked, blood-spattered girl being whipped through the streets was considered a very edifying sight, but Queen Elizabeth modified the order by having the victim only stripped from the waist up.

PIERRE CASSENDI.

The first savant to formulate a materialistic philosophy was probably the Greek philosopher, Epicurus, who claimed that everything that exists springs from natural causes, and that nothing can be annihilated. Since then some of the most brilliant of the world's intellects have elaborated this doctrine, but the founder of the modern materialistic school was Pierre Cassendi, Frenchman, who received the degree of doctor of theology from the College of Digne just three centuries ago today.

Although ordained a priest, Cassendi, as a professor of philosophy at Aix, founded a system of philosophy which denied all supernaturalism. Other famous materialistic philosophers include La Mettrie, Pierre Cabanis, Lord Bacon, Hobbes, Voltaire, Diderot, Dr. Baehner, Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, and in more recent times, Prof. Ernest Haeckel. It is to be noted that while the ancient materialists reasoned from a metaphysical basis, the latter-day materialists base their theories upon physical facts demonstrated by scientific investigations.

Houghton Warns Fighting Europe

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 5.—English newspapers gave considerable prominence today to the address last night of United States Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton at the Pilgrims dinner, in which he warned Europe that American financial moral assistance will be withheld unless Europe settles its quarrels.

"The speech was one of great moment when the probable effect of recent political changes in Europe is not yet clear," the Times said.

The Post said:

"Houghton's warning was addressed particularly to countries of the continent, chiefly Germany. We suggest that while awaiting for evidence of European good faith, America might re-examine the whole question of inter-allied debts. We are convinced of the right attitude of the American official mind and the denigrating speeches of Borah do not represent the influential sections of the American electorate."

The Telegraph suggested that Ambassador Houghton's warning was inspired by President Coolidge. The Manchester Guardian took the position that when the good faith of Europe was assured, America would participate officially in European affairs and "pull with its full weight."

The British foreign office described Houghton's speech as "interesting but ambiguous in parts."

Hold Whittaker For Grand Jury

On Two Counts, One for Driving Automobile While Intoxicated The Other For Grand Larceny—Overt Paid $10.

After a hearing held Monday evening before Judge Walter Webster at Flatbush, Howard Whittaker was held to await the action of the grand jury on two counts. One for operating an automobile while he was in an intoxicated condition, in the town of Ulster, and also on a charge of grand larceny in having taken a car without permission of the owner.

George Overt who was arrested on Sunday morning early while with Whittaker was fined $10 on a charge of public intoxication. Overt paid but as Whittaker was unable to furnish the necessary bail he was brought to the Ulster county jail by State Trooper Metzger.

Lieutenant J. R. Kyle, of the naval aviation staff, was chief pilot on the heavy U. S. Navy sea plane "PX-3" that recently broke all endurance records by remaining in the air twenty-eight hours and thirty-eight minutes over Philadelphia, Pa., in preparation for a flight from the west coast to Honolulu, shattering the previous record by nearly fourteen hours. The flight consumed 1,300 gallons of gas and 150 gallons of oil.

Judge Holds $2.85 for Haircut, Shave Larceny

New York.—John Kazos lives in Newark, N. J. But he knew no reason why he shouldn't drop into Antonio Martinez' barber shop in Manhattan, for a shave and a haircut.

"How much?"

"Twenty-eight."

"What?"

"Twenty-eight."

John Kazos wouldn't pay that for any haircut and shave.

"Why, I can get the same thing for 75 cents in Newark," he said. And Mr. Kazos was out the door in search of Patrolman Senier of the West Thirtieth street station.

To Magistrate Overberger, Kazos was formally complaining of Martinez' alleged disorderly conduct when the court directed that the barber be held for petty larceny. Martinez protested he had applied numerous choice topics and perfumes to his customer.

Dr. Downer Discusses Prohibition

people that challenged the world. It took the world four years to overcome them.

The Turks and other Mohammedan peoples make prohibition their religion. They are in the same class with the alcoholic Anglo-Saxons for doing the real world's work. This, however, does not prove that the national use of alcohol makes a people great. Yet notwithstanding all this, I think that it can be safely said that unrestrained alcohol is an evil.

Twenty-five years ago I helped make the town of Woodstock dry. Many of our people then thought that the millennium had arrived. On the whole it did improve things in Woodstock. It closed the saloons, and stopped public drinking. One old mother said to me after the town had gone "dry," "Thank God for that." She had a drunken son. The son still drinks. One old father, with tears in his eyes, said: "I was never so glad in my life." His drunken son never stopped drinking, and today drinks heavier than ever. Those who wanted to drink went over the town line, or to Kingston, and got more than they needed. The production of home cider has never abated. Many good people, including churchmen, were willing to outlaw the saloon so long as their right to make cider was not infringed upon.

Soon after Congress passed the Eighteenth Amendment, I overtook an old Irishman of our town, on my rounds one day. I invited him to ride. I said: "Pat the country has gone prohibition and one cannot get whiskey from now on." He meditated a moment and then said in his characteristically Celtic way, "no purely." He meant that alcohol could never be abolished. He is dead now, and I often think what a prophet he was. He was just a simple, unlettered tiller of the soil, and yet had more mother wit than many who sit in the halls of legislation.

Five Years Later.

What has the Eighteenth Amendment accomplished? Many people say that it has abolished the saloon, increased bank deposits, depopulated the jails and almshouses, lessened crime, and created prosperity, and in another generation America will be a dry, happy and prosperous.

Many other people who are just as honest say that the Volstead Act is a miserable failure, that there is just as much drinking as ever, that there are just as many drunks, that crime is on the increase, that an army of bootleggers have sprung up (patronized largely by otherwise law-abiding citizens) that the youth (both sexes) are drinking poisonous whiskey now who never drank before, that corruption, evasion of the law, contempt for all law is nationwide, that the saloon may have been partly abolished but it has converted the American kitchen and cellar into stilleries, that the use of narcotics has increased to an alarming rate.

This is a sweeping indictment to make against a country that has posed as a world leader of morality. The Detroit Free Press in an editorial said "a really powerful argument by those who first urged prohibition, was a contention that it would protect the youth of the country. There was a general admission that many of the (old) drunks were past redemption, and would cause trouble for a time but the dry advocates contended that when the receding generation disappeared, a new generation which knew not the taste of intoxicants would appear. The picture was attractive. It was a big factor in creating prohibition sentiment. It was difficult for a conscientious person to fight a sentiment that would protect the young. But it is a sad, depressing and disappointing fact that the Eighteenth Amendment has brought no blessing to the youth of America. It is a fair contention on the contrary that it has brought a curse. The fearful increase of drinking, and the consequent decrease of morals and standards, to say nothing of health of boys and girls of high school age, and even of a tenderer age since the reign of the bootlegger commenced is deplorable."

Professional Experiences.

My own experience as a physician has been that I have treated more cases of alcoholism during the past five years of prohibition than I did in the preceding twenty-two years. Since Volstead Act became law I have seen and treated more intoxicated women than I did in my previous professional life. I have had more wine offered to me during the last few years than I have had during my whole previous life. I know for a fact that many people, good substantial people, people who voted to make this town dry, all make a little wine. One of the stock arguments of the "drys" was that the young generation growing up would not see any alcohol, and would not know what it was.

People from practically every state in the Union come to Woodstock, and I have made it a point to talk to them about the Volstead law. I have talked to a great many and asked them how the Volstead law was working in the section from which they came, and it was an almost unanimous opinion that conditions were worse than ever.

Quoting from Alcohol and Prohibition, Dr. Seckl, Page 36, Dr. Brishane says that according to the chief medical examiner in New York State, the deaths caused by alcohol are eighty-nine per cent above 1920. Page 42 Charles James Stout states that a brood of nation-wide corruption and profligate dissipation has ever equaled the Volstead Act. Page 43 at Los Angeles recently has done all it could to limit on prohibition, and on December 25, 1923 The San Francisco Examiner reported that the police of that city had arrested 37,462 during 1923. The chief of John D. Barstow says he has arrested about 100,000 drunks frequenting the town since 1920.

Evolution or Revolution.

Man is a perverse animal; he resents being driven. He would rather be coerced. Those of us who are not sheep, are mules. The American with his vague idea of liberty is the worst to drive—save the Britisher, for a Volstead act could not be foisted on him.

Prostitution has been said to be the oldest "trade." Reformers have tried for centuries to blot it out. Yet it is here. After two thousand years of Christ's teachings, the world is still unredeemed.

Those who want to see a temperate America will have to cultivate patience. Many years will have come and gone before we will see a dry America.

Why the Volstead Act is a Failure.

Morals were degraded, and a people, and never will be. The forbidden fruit of the garden of Eden is a very old story. It is just as true today. Human nature has not changed much. Drinking intoxicants is as old as the race. All primitive people have done it. A habit that is as old as the dawn of history cannot be legislated out of existence over night.

It was a chimera to think that the drinking of alcohol could be stopped by forbidding its manufacture and sale.

Simply Forbidden.

Many people do and will pay just as much attention to such a law as to a law forbidding them to make and eat bread. The law forbidding the manufacture of alcoholic drinks can be too easily evaded. A little sugar, and any old thing from cane molasses, cornmeal, apples, starch, grapes or stale bread, and a wonderful fermentation, and the trick is done. Nature furnishes the yeast, and it does not take a cake to be

Chemist Finds New Way to Make His Auto Look New in 20 Minutes

Discovers New Kind of Finish That Needs No Rubbing. Not a Polish.

Like many of us, a well-known chemist got tired of everlasting rubbing his auto with various kinds of polishes to make it look presentable.

But he did more than kick at the hard work. He worked out a formula that produced a liquid finish that he wiped on his car with a piece of cheesecloth. Within 20 minutes his car looked as if it had just come from the factory. He gave his new finish, which he has called Fax, a hard test. He ran his car in all kinds of weather for four months and today the first application of Fax is still as good as when it was applied.

It has proven itself waterproof, durable and disproof. Fax is now being manufactured in a commercial way and is sold by all good dealers with a definite guarantee of satisfaction. Just read the proposition on which Fax is offered to you in this

SLENDER GIRL SHOULD CHOOSE

BEADS OF THE CHOKER STYLE

A slender girl should avoid a long string of beads as she would the plague. Such beads always make her neck look longer and thinner. A strand of beads of the choker type would be much more becoming, although here, too, there is danger to be avoided, for the large, marble-like choker beads are too heavy looking for a very slender neck and make it seem scrawny by contrast.

You see, coffee flavor comes from a delicate essence in the coffee bean, and this essence escapes during roasting unless the roasting is done just right. The producers of White House Coffee have developed a roasting process which preserves this fragrant coffee aroma.

Don't accept a substitute. If you want to serve coffee that is really delicious insist on White House Coffee with the flavor roasted in.

Fertile Spots

"A great many manufacturers would undoubtedly find that by limiting their efforts to more circumscribed areas and intensifying their sales activities in such areas they would not only reduce their selling costs but would probably produce a larger volume of business."

HERBERT HOOVER,
U. S. Secretary of Commerce.

National advertisers should study markets rather than the map.

Picking the fertile spots is the way to cut selling costs and to increase sales.

Find the right markets and then advertise in the newspapers in those markets.

That is the modern way—to make advertising produce definite results at the points where sales opportunities are best.

N. Y. Has Lowest
Smallpox Rate

Commenting on the outbreak of very virulent and frequently fatal type of smallpox which has invaded the eastern part of the country, notably the cities of Philadelphia and Washington, Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., state commissioner of health, stated today that from time to time this type of the disease has appeared in the east, coming usually from the middle west and south, but that the number of cases and fatalities which have occurred during the past few months serve to emphasize the fact that laxity in enforcing general vaccination creates a constant menace to the people of the state of New York.

Thanks to the New York State vaccination law, which requires all school children in first and second class cities to be vaccinated, and on declaration of an outbreak of smallpox by the state commissioner of health also in third class cities, towns and villages, together with the prompt isolation of all cases of the disease and the vaccination of contacts, the state of New York has the proud distinction, according to Dr. C. C. Pierce, senior surgeon of the U. S. Public Health Service, of having the lowest rate of smallpox among twenty of the most populous states for the period 1915-1920. Thus the rate for New York state was 0.026 per thousand, compared to 2.000 for Kansas. That is, Kansas had nearly 80 times as much smallpox as New York.

In spite of the fact that there is an active but comparatively small group of individuals and organizations which, through inability or unwillingness to grasp the facts relative to vaccination or because opposition to established authority constitutes a good business proposition, the people of the state as a whole refuse to be misled, and even those who on account of religious tenets are opposed to vaccination, show, as a rule, willingness to comply with the law.

Dr. Nicoll quoted from Dr. Pierce, with whom he is in absolute agreement, as follows:

"To control smallpox epidemic—vaccinate.

"To prevent smallpox—vaccinate, and at intervals revaccinate.

"Vaccination protection is good anywhere at any time.

"Quarantine protection is limited to a particular case and time.

"Every means of progress in prolonging human life has been contributed by those who know that vaccination does prevent smallpox and not one single advance in sanitary science, nor any useful suggestion for the purpose of prolonging human life and adding to efficiency, has ever been made by any opponent of this measure."

THE TAILOR TAKES TO CREPE DE CHINE.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

It is unquestionably true that, given sufficient time, everything which was once fashionable returns to fashion. Take surah silk, for instance—surely an old-time favorite, now hardly in the memory of many. It is again being offered, although one can hardly report it as established. Then there is the prim fashion of the tiny cross-bar taffeta dress, while alpaca any rayon, newer in spirit, have their sponsors. Pongee, at one time a staple, but lately rather a back number, is again being looked upon with approval instead of a frown.

The felt is an innovation on this model in Navy With Detached Lining of Yellow Crepe de Chine.

Among the new and arresting items is the introduction of crepe de chine to the tailor, or the tailor to crepe de chine, the result being suits—rather mannish ones at that—made of this most feminine of fabrics.

A white crepe de chine suit is something to bear in mind as spring ripens into summer. There are many new exotically embroidered effects to bewilder you. They form a sort of compromise between plain fabrics and printed ones. The embroidery which is one of color with its foundation is another offering, which, especially in the Chinese damask or Chinese brocade silk has much to be

Motor Vehicle Bureau Busy

11,000 Pleasure Car Plates and 3,000 Commercial Car License Plates Have Been Issued Here—Change in Days for Road Tests.

Beginning the week of May 11 there will be a change in days when an inspector from the State Motor Vehicle Bureau will be in Kingston to give road tests to applicants for operator or chauffeur licenses. Instead of on Tuesdays and Saturdays the days will be Tuesdays and Fridays. On Saturday last, Inspector Von Bergen gave fifty-nine road tests.

The local motor vehicle bureau on Fair street has been a busy place for some time, as there has been an increased demand for operator licenses, chauffeur licenses and automobile plates. Up to the close of business at the local bureau Monday evening, about 11,000 plates for pleasure cars have been issued for 1925 at the local bureau, about 3,000 commercial car license plates and 12,565 operator licenses issued.

In 1924 the total of pleasure car license plates did not reach 12,000 and as the year is but one-third gone Deputy Clerk H. Clinton Finger, in charge of the local bureau, is of the opinion that the total number for 1925 will reach about 13,000 plates for pleasure cars. Recently there have been a large number of transfers of used cars to new owners.

HEARD IN THE WINGS.

Pierrette and Pierrot Engaged in Conversation.

The Kingston High School Dramatic Club has in rehearsal at present "Prunella," and the following has been heard in the wings:

Pierrette—They don't know, Pierrot, whether I'm really Prunella or Pierrette. Is it a great matter?

Pierrot—O-ah-well, at least they know who I am. And, as for that, I can explain you to them very easily.

Pierrette—What will you say?

Pierrot—To the high school students?

Pierrette—Yes.

Pierrot—Oh, I'll look around the auditorium until I recognize somebody, say Art Pennington. Then I'll say: Say, you grubby, Prosy—

Pierrette—But they might not like that, Pierrot! It might hurt their feelings!

Pierrot—Feelings? They haven't got feelings, only vanity—and I had my vanity hurt, so why shouldn't they?

Pierrette—Oh!

Pierrot—So I'll say: Her, you grubby high school people, is Art Pennington president of the Dramatic Club or is he a good fellow? That ought to fix 'em!

Pierrette—And you think they won't mind my being Prunella and Pierrette? But there's something else. Nobody understands why we have love in our garden. Who's going to explain that?

Pierrot—Well, let Scaramel explain. He can say you had Love's statue in your garden before I came because there was no love there—kind of inoculation spot, she was. And we have her now because I'm so good natured I just let the girl hang around, still.

Pierrette—Olivia Daubler may not smile at you if you say that!

do, Pierrette—Marion Byrne, Dorothy Caultz, Dorothy Ryer and Nellie La Du. They've been practicing. Even since they saw Ottilia Riccobono at it one day they've been trying to turn the trick. But they can't do it, Pierrette. You see Ottilia—

Pierrette—suppose, Pierrot, I should be a very little—jealous?

Pierrot—Oh, you're all alike! I merely mention that girl's name and off you go—

Pierrette—But if I were indifferent, Pierrot, you know very well you shouldn't like that. Your vanity would be hurt—again—besides the fact that you might care a little, really.

Pierrot—Well, I'll tell you about this Ottilia. She looks just as you used to, Pierrette, when I first saw you with old Pantaloon. And she smiles as you do—not with her face, but as if a surprise had gotten caught in her lashes and let a sudden transparent little light into her eyes. It's as sweet, Pierrette, as unexpected music—

Pierrette—Oh, it was my secret, but I'll have to tell—Ottilia is—

Street Lighting In Good Old Days

It cost $63.04 to light streets of the Village of Kingston in 1863. Now it costs $17,000 to light streets of City of Kingston.

Back in the good old days the taxpayers undoubtedly "kicked" over paying a street lighting bill of $63.04, just as today they think that $45,000 is too much to pay for lighting the streets of the city. But "times do move," and how many today would like to go back to the old system of lighting the streets with gas lights.

Mayor Morris Block has in his possession "Warrant No. 121, of the Village of Kingston, dated November 30, 1863, which is drawn to the order of the 'Roundout & K. Gas Light Co.' in the sum of $63.04 to pay 'for gas for street lamps to November 1st.' The warrant is issued by the board of directors of the village and signed by Abram A. Deyo, Jr. president.

There may be still residents living in Kingston who remember the days of the gas lamps used for lighting the streets and may remember the lamp lighter who at dusk used to travel around the streets lighting the lamps for the night.

There have been many changes since the good old days. Even the system of gas illumination has been steadily advancing with so many improvements that it would cause a gasp of astonishment on the part of those living in 1863 if they could compare the gas lamp of that day with the gas lamp of today.

Then there was still a further improvement in illumination with the introduction of electricity both for street lighting and for house purposes.

Now at the sun set hour the electrician in the power house simply throws a switch and in an instant the street lamps are lit. There has also been an increased growth in the size of the city since the days when it was a village. Today there are over a hundred miles of street, and each street has to be lighted.

Today it costs approximately of $45,000 a year to light the city streets with the latest and most modern type of electric street lamp. There is quite a difference in the street lighting bills of 1863 and 1925, but who would care to go back to the days of 1863?

Nature produces no finer FRUIT-FOOD!

Serve Prunes often—For their healthful qualities & fine flavor

It is not an accident that so many well-known Dieticians and Food Experts make Prunes their first choice for breakfast!

They know what a properly-balanced breakfast means in health and working efficiency. And they know that Prunes supply just those elements needed to balance the eggs, cereals and meats, and other highly-concentrated foods that make up such a large part of the average breakfast menu.

This is the Time to Serve Them

Right now—during the Spring season—Prunes are particularly needed in the diet. Serve them often! And be sure you get the very best prunes—thin-skinned, delicately flavored, SWEET PRUNES from the famous orchards of California.

There are two ways to buy them: Scaled in our new, sanitary 2-lb. carton—or in bulk, from the regular 25-lb. SUNSWEET BOX.

Order from your grocer—and enjoy them, prepared according to the recipe below:

A Quick Way to Cook Prunes

Wash SWEET PRUNES, cover with hot water and allow to soak one hour. Bring to the boiling point in the same water in which they were soaked, cover and cook until Prunes are tender, from thirty to forty-five minutes. Add sugar ten minutes before removing from fire. Allow one tablespoon to one cup of Prunes, measured before soaking or cooking. If a thick syrup is desired, remove Prunes to serving dish when tender, and boil the liquid until it is of the desired consistency. A little orange peel, lemon juice or stick cinnamon improves the flavor for some tastes.

Ride on GENUINE Low Air Pressure

If you can cut down the air pressure in your balloons tires it will add just that much more to their cushioning effect.

Maybe you can't do this safely with your present make of balloon tires.

But you can with the new U.S. "Royal low-pressure Balloons—

Because—

These tires have the new U.S. "Low-Pressure Tread." This tread gives a much greater area of road contact than a round tread.

It distributes the load evenly over the tread surface and reduces the weight on the individual tread blocks. This does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

U.S. Royal Balloon gives long service even at lower air pressures than have been recommended in the past.

For in addition to this new Low-Pressure tread they are built of Latex-Treated Web Cord. The only cord construction in which the cords are webbed together with pure rubber latex. This gives maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Don't compromise on balloon tire pressures any longer.

Ride on genuine low pressure.

It will surprise you to know what a difference it makes.

State Out for Surplus Blood

College students imbued with patriotic zeal to shed their blood in the cause of humanity are to be given an opportunity, according to a communication recently sent to colleges by Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., director of the division of communicable diseases of the state department of health. They have only to convince Dr. Godfrey that they have recovered from measles within approximately two weeks and that they are otherwise healthy, whereupon they will be relieved of their surplus blood by peaceful and practically painless means and will in addition be compensated by the state at the rate of $10.00 a pint.

Each pint of blood will produce enough "convalescent serum" to protect about thirty babies from contracting measles. If they are given the serum within six days of exposure to the disease. Roughly seventy per cent of all death from measles are among babies under three years of age. If a baby can be protected until it has passed its third birthday the danger grows progressively less for several succeeding years.

The state laboratory is prepared to convert the blood into life-saving serum but great difficulty has been experienced in getting enough to meet the demand, since measles is relatively uncommon among adults. The present supply, which is rapidly being exhausted, was obtained from students in a college where a measles outbreak occurred. The appeal is being made to colleges because much greater expense and inconvenience is involved in securing blood from individuals scattered throughout the state.

Although the supply of serum has been very limited, there is no doubt but that it has already saved hundreds of infant lives. Its use has thus far been largely confined to institutions for children in which measles is most fatal. In one such institution in 1923, according to Dr. Godfrey's estimate, 29 or more lives were saved. This estimate is based on death rates from measles in previous outbreaks in this institution when serum had not been used.

COAST GUARD FINDS 150 CASES ABOARD "ACADIA"

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., May 5.—The alleged rum runner "Acadia" which had been playing a game of hide and seek with United States customs and coast guard for weeks, is at last in the hands of government officials.
She went aground on a reef opposite the foot of Porter avenue early today and was boarded by coast guardsmen. Aboard the "Acadia" were 150 cases of whiskey. She had been deserted by her crew. It is the theory of the government agents that the men on her got off safely after she went aground.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 5.—Stock prices marched aggressively forward in most of today's session of the stock market. Motors and public utility stocks retained their leadership in the active list, and new high record prices were established in representative stocks in each group.

The foreign exchanges continued to move upward. Sterling attained a new high record around 4.85 1/2 and Norwegian and Danish currencies gained 14 points each. This made a total gain of 31 points in Norwegian exchange since Saturday.

The sharp advance of Consolidated Gas to a new high at 83 was the feature of the market for utility stocks. Electric Power and Light moved up to a new high at 24 1/2 as a result of which Utah Securities gained 7 points at 108. Heavy buying of North American sent that stock to new high record prices for the year.

Oil stocks exhibited more stability than they have shown since the break in prices last March and with Standard Oil of New Jersey as a leader, the oil stocks moved upward.

Dodge Brothers preference stocks completed their recovery from last week's slump and sold well above par in active trading. Maxwell B reached a new top at 90 1/2. Mack Trucks and General Motors were active and strong. U. S. Steel and other of the industrial leaders were conspicuously inactive as also were the copper, shipping, sugar and independent steel stocks. Commodity markets were steady.

New Uses for Castor Oil

Railway chemical engineers have produced a special lubricant from castor oil, which is now being used with great success on the Chinese Eastern railway. It is said to be efficient and economical as a car lubricant. Castor oil is coming into extensive use for technical and medicinal purposes. In China it is also used as a food. Delightful Recital.

The musical which Mrs. Antonio Krauth gave last Saturday to her numerous friends was a very enjoyable affair. The program began with the C-minor Sonata by Grieg, which was played in a masterly way by Miss Amelia Galloway and Julius Schendel from New York. Not only in this difficult piece but also in her solo numbers which included the beautiful dances by Dvorak and Brahms did Miss Galloway prove to be a really excellent violinist and Mr. Schendel, who played the difficult Rhapsodie Op. 79 by Brahms and pieces by Chopin and Liszt is one of the best pianists of the younger generation. Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar delighted the audience with several classical and modern songs. She has a sweet voice and a fine understanding of the beautiful art of singing. She was artistically accompanied by Mrs. Clara Chichester, the well-known pianist of Woodstock. At the close of the recital two beautiful songs by Edward Hermann of New York were rendered by Mrs. Dunbar, Miss Galloway and Mr. Schendel. The composers were present and received an ovation from the delighted audience.

Beech for Fuel

Beeches are beautiful throughout the year. From the ground to their polished slender trunks the gray to brown bark is clean and smooth, and both bark and twigs are so distinctive that they are not to be confused with other trees of the forest. These trees are famed not only for their beauty but for their many useful products as well, says "Tree Habits" by the American Nature association. Their wood is valuable for lumber and is made into shingles, furniture, tool handles, brush backs and kitchen utensils. As fuel it has no superior.

ACTIVITY OF COLONIAL CHAPTER OF DE MOLAY.

Last night the Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held a very interesting and snappy meeting at the Masonic rooms on Wall street. A very good number of the members were present. On Sunday, May 10 (Mother's Day), the members have accepted an invitation from Dr. Bove to attend a Mother's Day Service in the evening at the First Reformed Church.

A very interesting program is being planned for the next meeting two weeks since when there will be an initiation of a class of new members, and it is hoped to have the Troy, Albany and Poughkeepsie Chapters present, as invitations have already been sent to these organizations. It is also planned to invite the Newburgh Knights Templar. All the members are working very hard to make this the biggest and best meeting of the year.

Wednesday, May 13, will be DeMolay day at the local Boy Scout Broadcasting Station, WDBZ, when a very interesting program will be sent out into the air.

Imagined They Were Warm, and They Were

Imagination, like the consciousness of being well and fashionably dressed, has a singular power of imparting warmth to the frame, a writer in the Youth's Companion remarks. If you think you are warm, you really are. So at least the following story from the Tatler would seem to prove.
The late Charles Brookfield used to tell a story of a miserable railway journey that he had to undertake with some friends in order to get to a certain country house. It was bitterly cold, and by the time they got to the end of their journey it was pitch dark, and they were nearly frozen. A private omnibus had been sent to meet them, and they trooped in and pulled up the glass of the window.
"I hope to goodness they're remembered to put in the foot warmers!" exclaimed one of them, reconnoitering with his foot. "Oh, thank goodness! Yes, they're there."
Sure enough, they found, stored under the seats, two heavy contrivances, which they hauled into line and gratefully rested their feet on. The effect was instantaneous. Immediately a delicious warmth permeated the soles of their boots and thawed their icy feet, and soon their whole bodies were in a glow.

"Hang it!" one of them remarked, perspiring freely. "This is almost too much of a good thing. Let's have the window down."
They were thoroughly warm and refreshed by the time they arrived at the house, where they were met by an apologetic butler, who expressed regret that the omnibus had been sent off without foot warmers. It then turned out that the objects on which they had been so cozily resting their feet were two of their own gun cases. Their own imaginations had warmed their feet!

Galen Earned Title, "Father of Medicine"

The foundations of medical science were laid in the early part of the First century by Claudius Galen.
Galen was born at Pergum, in Asia Minor. He spent some years at Alexandria and later went to Rome, where he wrote a work on anatomy and even performed dissections upon animals.
He considered that disease was largely based upon the four humors of man—bile, blood, phlegm and black bile—which were regarded as related to (but not identical with) the four elements—fire, air, earth and water—being supposed to have characters similar to these.
Thus, to bile, as to fire, were attributed the properties of heat and dryness; to blood and air those of heat and moistness; and finally black bile, like earth, was said to be cold and dry.

"Hobble" Stairway

In a certain building in Stockholm, Maine, is an unusual flight of stairs, which have a rise of 5 inches and a correspondingly narrow tread, looking as if they were made for the convenience of small children. This stairway was built according to the idea of Dr. Henry Levitt, a dentist in the building. It was the day of the hobble skirt. Clad in a hobble skirt, any woman ascended a flight of ordinary stairs with difficulty and Doctor Levitt planned the stairs with this style in mind. About the time they were finished, the style passed to await its resurrection, but the stairs will remain a memorial to a forgotten freak of fashion.

Madison Square Garden Closes

Johnny Dundee and Sid Terris will be seen in final bouts at Madison Square Garden tonight. Many titles changed in boxing temple.

By Davis J. Walsh.

By 7 o'clock to the Freeman. May 5.—A requiem to the great moments of a dying past was sounded at Madison Square Garden tonight, with a wholly appropriate obligation of thudding fists. The night will be furnished, at the expense of the exchange, by Johnny Dundee and Sid Terris, who will step into the ring for the last time in a fight that is a minor detail.

It is not at all who plays the game, but the funeral is over; Madison Square Garden, greatest monument to the progress of sport, is under the wheel of progress and after tonight, only the departed memories will remain.

Dead memories, however, at their glamor will live on, though the art itself perishes. The temple is destroyed.

It is this temple, for example, that has made Mitchell, the cocky, a hero. He scored a knockout over Sullivan only to have the referee intervene to save the latter from a knockout.

It is this temple, here it was that Dundee beat Hayes during the World Championship of 1908, that he beat nearly disesteemed and aged Jack O'Brien, that he beat the great Ketchell, and that he beat the great Ketchell.

It is this temple, when the bell rang the round of the fight, that he beat Benny Leonard, that he beat him in the center of the ring, that he beat him in a dazed way, that he beat him in a dazed way, that he beat him in a dazed way.

Tagging Major League Bases

Poor Old George Slater, hitting safely in his nineteenth consecutive game, socked a homer with two on, stole home in the eighth and piloted the Browns to a 5 to 4 decision over the Tigers. Yes, poor old George.

The Giants waked the Phillies' outfielders to a cross country run, smiting Decatur, Pillingim and Ulrich for 15 hits and a 12 to 2 victory. Jackson obliged with two home runs and Frisch one.

Proceeding on their merry way, the Yankees dropped their fifth straight when Bishop socked a homer, Dykes singled and Miller tripled off Jones in the ninth and the Athletics won, 8 to 7. Simmons stepped out with two singles, a double and a homer, Combs robbing him of another.

Marion's easy fly was permitted to drop safe under the head of unflashed business and Bancroft drifted home with the run that gave the Braves a 6 to 5 verdict over the Dodgers.

Girls' Sunday School League

The Elmendorf Presbyterian Girls Basketball team won the final game from the Clinton Avenue Business Girls team, Saturday night at the Y. W. C. A. This gives first place in the Girls Inter Sunday School Basketball League to the Presbyterians.

The Clinton Avenue Business Girls team second and the St. John's team third. A cup, which was donated by C. A. Warren of Warren's Sporting Goods Store, is to be presented to the winning team. This cup is to be kept by that team for a year or until it is won by another team.

The game was a special one, due to the fact that the Presbyterians and the C. A. Business Girls had tied for first place. It was a close and fast game with the score tied at the end of the first half. The Presbyterians won by only a few points, the score being 26-21.

The League standing is as follows:

YANKEES FACE A GENERAL SHAKE UP

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 5.—After losing five straight games and eleven out of 15 since the start of the season, the New York Yankees today faced a general shake up at the hands of their manager, Miller Huggins.

It was reported that Huggins' first step in the shake-up of the former world's champion machine would be the replacement of Everett Scott at short stop by Paul Wanchofer. Scott has taken part in only three games since his return from a 100-day suspension.

Giant Leader Improving.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 5.—John McGraw, confined to his home with a heavy cold, had so far improved today that he will be able to coach the Giants before the end of the week, according to his physician, Dr. Walsh.

Dempsy Denies Flight Rumor.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 5.—On the eve of sailing for Europe, Jess Dempsy today denied that he had accepted terms to appear in a bout against an unnamed opponent in Germany.

The report named $10,000 as the amount Dempsy was to receive for appearing in a Berlin ring.

Bill Lamar Injured.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 5.—It was believed today that Bill Lamar, outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, would be hurt for the first time in two weeks as a result of a strained muscle in the right leg. Lamar sustained the injury in the seventh inning of yesterday's game with the New York Yankees.

FOES OF GRID GAME HOTLY DENOUNCED

Major Griffith Says Sport Is Being Improved and Will Endure.

Football, "an American institution," was strongly defended against attacks by professors whom he compared to Bill Haywood, the anarchist, by Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the western conference in an address before the twelfth annual convention of the Middle West Society of Physical Education.

"The American people are so unanimous in their belief in and support of their institutions that when some one voices dissent of these institutions the fact is announced on the front page of the daily press," said the commissioner. "Bill Haywood's name is known throughout America, not because of any constructive work that he may have done, but because he said that he did not like the American institutions of government."

"Every now and then some college professor, leaving his chosen field, achieves distinction by announcing that he does not believe in the American institution of football. Football is an American institution."

Football is being improved each year by its friends and will endure so long as it is administered as at present by persons who see in it a means of developing character and so long as Americans as a people enjoy the more rugged and sturdy games, Major Griffith said.

"There is more danger," he continued, "that our American youth will follow the easier path of indolence and idleness than that he will engage too much in the arduous sport, which calls for every ounce of energy, self-sacrifice and fortitude he may possess."

Adams Is Fixture

"Sparky" Adams, the peppery little infielder of the Chicago Cubs, seems to have a chance on the second-base job for the Windy City team for this year. His fielding, hitting and base running make him a valuable man.

Indians Will Construct Large Athletic Stadium

Contributions amounting to $50,000 have been made by American Indians toward the construction of an immense athletic stadium at Haskell institute, an Indian government school at Lawrence, Kansas.

The proposed structure, which, when completed, is expected to cost approximately $1,000,000, will be built exclusively from subscriptions by Indians. Already tribes from all parts of the West and from many of the reservations have contributed. This is the first time that the Indians have joined in an enterprise of this character.

Haskell institute is one of the largest Indian schools operated by the government. It is called the "Cathedral of the West" and has an enrollment of 600 Indian students. The campaign to erect a stadium was started last fall through the efforts of Haskell, meeting with a hearty response from the Indians. Subscriptions have been pouring in ever since.

The new stadium will seat 20,000 persons. It will probably embody an architectural illustration of Indian art and will be an ideal outdoor theater. It will contain a quarter-mile track, baseball diamond, and football field, and facilities for field meets, wrestling, tennis and playgrounds.

Not only the building but the grounds, which adjoin Haskell institute, are to be purchased out of the $100,000 fund raised exclusively among the Indians.

Pennsylvania to Spend Million in Improvement

The University of Pennsylvania will spend close to $1,000,000 during the next 12 months to make Franklin field the finest college football stadium in the country. This announcement was made by Sydney F. Hutchinson, chairman of the committee on athletics at Penn, at a formal dinner given to Penn's 1924 football team by New York alumni at the latter clubhouse.

According to Hutchinson, Franklin field will have a seating capacity of 50,000 next fall when Lincoln, Graham, Pittsburgh and Cornell will play Philadelphia for the first time. The stadium will be a masterpiece of design and every seat was completed in three days.

The enlargement will be made by adding a second deck to the north and south stands and changing the seating.

OUTH, 20, WHO NEVER WALKED
NOW HAS HOPE

Believes Surgeons Will Accomplish Miracle He Has Dreamed of.

Kansas City, Mo.—Gerald Wilson, son of Gilman, Iowa, never has walked in 17 months surgeons at the Christian Church hospital say. Gerald is 20 years old. They believe he will be able to use them. He underwent an operation on one leg. The other leg just hangs over the knife.

He is now 17 months old, possibly 18. He is in the hospital. He is happy. He believes the surgeons who have operated on him will accomplish the miracle he has dreamed of through the years he has lain bedfast.

Back of Gerald's smile and his forthright desire to get well and repay the kindness of Gilman whose generosity made possible the hope for future usefulness.

Dr. J. M. H. and Charles Otto Gilman, business men, have pledged $1000 to defray Gerald's hospital bill.

Faces Six Months in Hospital.

They now are planning a benefit show in Gilman to raise an additional $500 to do the job up right. Until a few months ago, Gerald had resigned himself to the life of an invalid. There was no hope, he felt, of ever walking. From his bedroom window he had watched boys of his age sport. He had turned away his head many times to keep from sobbing.

Surgeon Proves "Angel." His parents were poor. He had no money. Then a Kansas City surgeon, who has remained anonymous throughout the case, told him an operation would make his legs straight. The surgeon told Gerald a birth injury had caused a hemorrhage of the brain, which in turn caused the muscles of his legs to contract. The surgeon guaranteed his services gratis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harey raised the money for the hospital bill and Gerald was bundled into the Christian Church hospital.

"I'm going to walk out," says Gerald.

Chicago Brides Found for Farmers in West Canada

Ottawa—Chicago, New York and London, having been heard from, it was necessary to send a special train to England and Ireland to get brides for Canadian farmers in the Northwest. This was arranged for, but a lot of letters came from American women willing to pass their lives in the Northwest.

"The bachelors," said a dispatch from Regina, Alberta, Canada, "will now be able to search England and Ireland for brides. More than 100 letters have been received by the secretary of the 'Can. Farmers' league from lonely bachelors in Canada and the United States. The particulars about the bachelors and the farmers of this district are being sent to the most suitable of the women."

The greater part of the writers hail from Ontario and other Ontario parts. Ontario and British Columbia also have been represented. Chicago and New York have sent about a score each. The bachelors of the overseas men were gathered at the last meeting of the league, and a scheme of advertisement for Canadian and American girls was devised.

Chair Decapitates Driver of Auto in Wagon Crash

New York, with one of the most important automobile accidents ever recorded, a man, William H. Harey, was killed early by a kitchen chair which crashed through the windshield of his car.

Harey, married, with a home-drawn truck, was on the Sheffield Farms route, on the approach to Flushing Meadows, killing the horse and overturning the wagon. William Harey, 40, was sitting on a chair in the wagon.

Harey, though the windshield, the chair fell to the back and struck Harey from his shoulder. He was on the way to Flushing Meadows.

Life an Inferno, Woman Asserts

Mrs. Dorothy Buckman of This City Tells of Alleged Abuse by Husband, John Buckman, Known as "Wild Man of Kingston" — Is Granted Separation.

Life with John Buckman, "the wild man of Kingston" was an inferno according to the testimony of his wife, Dorothy Buckman, told to Justice Seeger in special term of supreme court in Newburgh on Friday, and her request for a decree of separation from her husband was granted. Custody of two minor children was given the wife and the husband was ordered to pay $12 per week toward their support. Mrs. Buckman is a former Walden girl.

In its report of the hearing the Newburgh News says:

The young woman was loath to answer the questions of her attorney, Earl H. Houghtaling, and it required repeated prompting from court, stenographer and lawyer to gain the entire tale of alleged brutal treatment against the wife when she lived at 49 Hooker street, Kingston. The husband did not appear to defend the action.

The first of the series of assaults as charged by the wife was perpetrated on September 6, 1920, when she claims her husband struck and beat her, injuring her face and left arm. He used vile and indecent language frequently, she maintained. In January, 1922, he again struck her, driving her from the house with a hatchet.

Murder was the "wild man's" goal, the wife testified. Only the timely entry of a neighbor prevented the man from injuring her with the weapon, she added.

From that time on, assaults were of frequent occurrence, the woman continued, October 18, 1924, was the date of the last assault, the husband at that time again driving her out of the house after injuring both her and their two little children, John, aged four years and Elwood, aged two years.

Mrs. Buckman went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Foucher of 14 Pleasant avenue, Walden, who was a witness today. She told of caring for the children since October 29, the husband failing to contribute to their support $8 weekly as ordered by the city judge at Kingston, after he had been arrested on an assault charge and found guilty.

Buckman is employed in a Kingston cigar factory, earning $25 to $30 weekly. Justice Seeger ordered weekly payments of $12 "if you can get him to pay."

Y. W. C. A. Drive Now Underway

The second fund-raising campaign to be put over by the Y. W. C. A. started off on Monday evening with a get-together supper at the headquarters on Henry street, with flying colors and great enthusiasm!

When one looked over the big gym filled with supper tables prettily decorated with pink rose buds, and surrounded by the happy, smiling alert faces of nearly one hundred and forty girls and women with just a sprinkling of men, it was hard to realize that it all represented an organization only two years old.

At the head table were assembled members of the executive committee, several of the trustees and members of the board of directors, with the president, Mrs. G. F. Rice, presiding.

Mrs. Rice called upon the Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church, to pronounce the invocation. During the serving of the excellent supper—and, by the way, at each supper voluntary contributions are asked for to help in paying for the supper—there was a little spirited singing, but for the most part those present were too engrossed in their plans for starting out to capture that $8,500-plus, to be much interested in anything else.

The speaker of the evening was Frank Powley, who said he had accepted the invitation to speak through Mrs. Powley, which was all right, for "We can't get along without such partnerships, so girls see to it that this best of partnerships is carried out in your lives," added Mr. Powley.

The speaker said that he felt keenly the responsibility of addressing the workers on the first night of their campaign after their two years of such wonderful success as was recorded in their folder entitled "Y. W. C. A. Budget Week." During the nineteen months just passed there had been an attendance of 35,555 which is more than the entire population of Kingston and amounts to approximately 1,800 a month or 300 a day. He congratulated sincerely, the girls of the Association, who were associated with other girls who were trying, all together to do what is right. "Such a power must make a great difference in the morale of our city," said Mr. Powley. The work of the Association was four-sided, including training in the physical, social, the mental and the spiritual things of life. To bring about such training and work was bound to mean very real sacrifice of other things on both the part of the girls and the board of directors, but we realize today that following the example of the Great Sacrifice, all worth while things in life can be accomplished only through real sacrifice.

Then Mr. Powley gave the workers some specific advice as to conducting the campaign, telling them to go out today and show this pessimistic put-off-till-tomorrow town what can be done when a big bunch of enthusiastic youngsters get after it. He told them to go out with enthusiasm and earnestness and the purpose to win not only the budget of $8,500 but a good amount more to add to their present building fund, realizing that the work is vital.

Captain Fowler was then called upon and told the girls that though they were going out for $8,500 he knew that they could get two, yes, three times that amount for such a cause and in order to have a home of their own. That was all he had to say last evening, but he promised the girls he would have more to say this evening, when he will be the special speaker.

Miss Sarah Horton, chairman of the finance committee had a few words of encouragement to offer and Mrs. Rice warned all captains and workers that in the Kingston Y. W. C. Campaigns there was no such thing as "stump night," but every night was to be "progress night."

Miss Ester after giving a few final instructions said that each evening there would be a favor for the workers bringing in the largest number of subscriptions as well as the largest amounts. While a few generous subscriptions have already been received they were not to be announced until this evening and would be assigned to the teams where they would rightly belong.

Houghton Traced American Policy

Ambassador's Outline of America's Position Was An Accurate Reflection of President Coolidge's Views —Major Tenets of Our Policy Toward Europe.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 5.—Ambassador Houghton's maiden speech in London, in which he stated with unusual frankness that unless the nations of Europe abandon their warlike bickering and get back to constructive work, they need not look to America for any more help, is an accurate reflection of President Coolidge's views, it was ascertained today.

The ambassador, it was said, spoke "by the book." Fresh from conferences with President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg, and other administration leaders, Mr. Houghton outlined with remarkable clarity and force the major tenets that are to guide the formation of American policy abroad for the next three years.

In every authoritative administration quarter today there was voiced high praise of Ambassador Houghton's speech. Particular commendation was accorded the ambassador for cutting away usual diplomatic "hokum" and bluntly telling Europe what is in the American mind.

The two paragraphs of Mr. Houghton's speech especially praised in administration circles here today were:

"The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come."

"Americans are asking themselves if that time has arrived. The answer must come from the people of Europe who alone can make the decision. If the answer is peace, America will help to her generous utmost. But, if that answer shall continue to be confused and doubtful, then, I fear, those helpful processes must inevitably cease. We are not, as a people, interested in making speculative advances."

As interpreted here, Ambassador Houghton's speech amounted to this:

1. A direct warning to Europe that there will be no more American loans abroad unless Europe ceases bickering and gets to work.

2. A more indirect, but, nevertheless,

Finds Lightning Hole
Ephrata, Wash.—A fulgurite, or lightning hole, was recently found in Douglas county dry coulee by E. R. Tromp. It is a glass-lined, shell-shaped hollow mass of sand and earth made by a severe bolt of lightning striking and entering into the soil. The red-hot electric fluid apparently melted the sand and formed a tube nearly two feet in length. Right over this dry coulee or former river bed there were terrific electric storms the past summer, but little rain fell.
